

Summer Graduate Research Fellowship

Department of Mathematics, Boise State University

Two graduate research fellowships are available for Summer 2009. Students will be paid $3,000 to work on a research project with a faculty member, which may lead towards completion of a thesis.

Interested applicants should work closely with a faculty advisor, and write a short proposal for summer research on this form, attaching additional pages if necessary. Preference will be given to students who have completed one or two semesters of the graduate program, and academic performance will be a factor in determining the awards.

This form, with faculty signature, should be returned to Jodi Mead in the Mathematics Department by April 22, 2009.
